

You are invited to enroll in a Health Research Project for adults with IDD called "Can You Hear Us Now?"

What? The Ohio State University has a new research project about the health and wellness of adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD).

Why? We need to learn more about the health, mental health, and wellness of adults with IDD so we can improve services.

How? You can share your own health experiences and ideas in a private online interview that will take about 3 hours.

In appreciation: You and your support person will each receive a $100 gift card.

To sign up or learn more, call us at 1-833-678-7782, go.osu.edu/rrtcstudy, or scan this code:

Your voice matters!
We want to hear from you.